QUINZBAUG POMONA GRANGE. May Meeting to Be Held at Warrenville With Ashford Grange.

Quinzbaug Pomona Grange will meet at Warrenville with Ashford grange, No. 30, on Saturday. The morning session will open at 10.30 in the fifth degree for the transaction of general business. It has been suggested that a short period of the morning session be devoted to remarks appreciative of the lives of two past masters who have recently died. Dinner is planned for 12.15 and is in charge of Brother Bennett and Sister A. M. Bassett and Sister M. A. Bates. The afternoon session will be in the fourth degree and begin at 1.30. The lecture's hour will then follow and the grange will close in due form about 4.15.

The programme follows: Address of Welcome, Rev. B. C. Buebee, Ashford grange; response, W. Overaker, Pearl; piano solo, Brother J. E. Murphy, Ashford grange; address, Co-operation Among Farmers, Dr. Alexander E. Cance, professor of agricultural economics at the Massachusetts Agricultural college; recitation, Miss O. C. Smith; vocal solo, Mrs. Thom; lecture and demonstration, Acidity in Soils, Prof. H. D. Newton of the Connecticut Agricultural college; mixed quartette from Menfield grange.

The main address at this meeting is upon one of the most important subjects of interest to the farmers and gardeners, and the interest which some of the stifle granges are taking in it. So many opinions upon methods of and fields for co-operation must be based upon facts, and every farmer for his own financial welfare ought to inform himself upon this important subject. Dr. Cance is well qualified to instruct.

Acidity in soils is a somewhat scientific subject, but will be treated in an elementary way which any can comprehend. The aim will be to improve the listener's knowledge of the principles involved rather than to give specific advice.

Not Convinced on Mars.

Prof. Percival Lowell was enthusiastically received by the fellow-scientists, as well as by the public, on the occasion of his visit to England, and the former expressed a mighty interest in his Meridian speculations. It appears, nevertheless, that he did not establish conviction respecting the engaging theories. Sir David Gill, who presided at the meeting of the Royal Astronomical society, at which Professor Lowell had the honor to present "the corroboration in a most striking manner of the photographic revelation of two new suns—is neither convinced nor silenced. He has recently repeated in public the argument that he had won the flagstaff, at the close of the lecture, to illustrate how amazing are some of the assumptions on which the theory rests.

Thus it is admitted that the water cannot flow through the "canals" by natural movement, but must be pumped through. Moreover, the canals must be covered throughout their length; otherwise, so rare is the atmosphere, the water would be evaporated. It could be of any service to vegetation. Pumping through a system of thousands of miles of pipes a mass of water more than nine times as much as the earth's oceans, and the latter regarded as a "fall river" for the Martians to execute.—Providence Journal.

To take any action which may be deemed necessary to improve the present municipal government of the city of Norwich.

As in duty bound your petitioners will ever pray.

Inasmuch as the petition refers to improvement of the present government the possibilities are many. The commission form of government has quite a following. It is said, and it would not be surprising if that was suggested as an improvement.

Connecticut Crops.

According to the Crop Reporter of the agricultural department at Washington for May, the present conditions on the first of this month were as follows, compared with conditions at other times: Rye condition, 97 per cent. this year, 99 last year, 94 ten year average; spring planting, May 1, 90, ten year average 93; spring plowing, 87 per cent. this year, 85 last year, 80 41 per cent. ten year average; spring planting, 33 per cent. done by May 1, 20 per cent. done same date last year, 8 per cent. of last year's crop on the farms May 1, 15 per cent. moved off the farms.

Many Sheep Killed. At South Norwalk seventy-five sheep have been killed and 122 have been bitten by two dogs that came into town last week. Of the thirty-five flocks of sheep in the town only one flock escaped the ravages of the dogs. Armed men are on guard day and night over the sheep, but have been unable to shoot the two dogs.

Y. M. C. A. NEEDS $5,000 TODAY

Contributions Now Amount to $5,025 55 for the Week's Efforts—Sum of $653 30 Raised on Thursday—What the Association Does.

At the close of the fourth day of the $6,000 campaign of the Y. M. C. A. twenty-eight members sat down on Thursday evening to a delightful supper served by the ladies of the Second Congregational church, the committee in charge being Mrs. H. F. Palmer, Mrs. R. A. DePasse, who were ably assisted by Mrs. Ernest Smith, Miss Irene Haviland and Miss Ruth Kinney as waitresses. A. B. Davies was delegated to convey to this committee the unanimous thanks of the members present.

The various teams reported for the day's work as follows: Team D, through H. W. Galt, $211.20; Team C, through S. H. Palmer, $207; Team B, through President Browning, $215; Team A, through J. L. Case, $26, a total of $653.30. The total amount raised to date is $5,025.55, leaving a balance of $974.45 to be secured today, the last of the contest. Inasmuch as $1,200 pledged is conditional upon the raising of the entire amount, every member of the various teams will have to see every prospect on his list, and a large proportion of those seen will have to respond.

As the contest draws to a close the interest increases, yet it is harder to raise money, owing to the fact that so many have already responded. It is therefore hoped that a hearty response will be given to the Y. M. C. A. workers, who are rendering very efficient aid and service to the community.

Mr. Bates, state secretary, had to leave for his home in New Haven, and was assisted by Mr. Wilson, who has been through the entire week a rising vote of thanks was tendered to him, as was also done to Secretary Wilson of the New Britain association.

In a short speech Mr. Wilson told the Y. M. C. A. workers that the association recently held a membership convention with the idea of bringing in 200 in one day. So thoroughly were the various committees imbued with this idea that 288 names were secured the first day and fifty more the following morning. On Thursday Mr. Wilson gave the public will remember the magnificent gift of Miss Helen Gould, who after the Spanish war erected a large building for the sailors of the Brooklyn navy yard, and John D. Rockefeller recently erected one at the Norfolk navy yard.

The Y. M. C. A. in Norwich there are no special needs of that character, but ever since the rooms were first opened in the Pierce block the association has been a power for good among the young men in the community.

Upbuilding Christian Manhood.

The first work of the association, as its name implies, is the upbuilding of Christian manhood, the other features being but a means to the desired end. Many of the earnest workers in our association have been graduates of the influence of this school, as through the influence of the Christian men who have acted as secretaries a large number of them have been brought into the churches of Norwich. There is no cause which comes before the people that is not met by the Y. M. C. A. It pays a better dividend, not in dollars and cents, but in better manhood and a more wholesome and energetic class of citizens.

Today is the day that counts: every dollar which the citizens of Norwich contribute to this work is money well spent in the interests of the city. It is to be hoped that when the day is over the thermometer will show that the desired goal has been attained.

WANT A CITY MEETING CALLED BY THE MAYOR

Petition Presented to Him on Thursday in Which Improvement in Present Municipal Government Is Sought

A petition headed by Gilbert S. Raymond and signed by thirty voters, was presented to Mayor Lippitt on Thursday, asking for a city meeting, the petition being in favor of the undersigned, freemen of said city, hereby make application in writing and request you to call a meeting of the city to take action on the following matter, or to incorporate the same in the warning for the annual city meeting:

To take any action which may be deemed necessary to improve the present municipal government of the city of Norwich.

As in duty bound your petitioners will ever pray.

Inasmuch as the petition refers to improvement of the present government the possibilities are many. The commission form of government has quite a following. It is said, and it would not be surprising if that was suggested as an improvement.

ly with foreigners, it has led to a large number of them joining the Association, and made of them better and more useful citizens.

A large number of these young men have taken their first steps in learning the English language through Y. M. C. A. work. In Pennsylvania, where there are large numbers of illiterate workmen, the English language is taught by means of the stereopticon. The teachers recruited not only from among native Americans, but from among those who have already learned the English language, and who have become so interested that they have become active workers.

In this work no attempt is made to teach higher education, but, following up the study of our language, they are taught lessons in patriotism, facts concerning our laws, and literature.

The Y. M. C. A. supplies services appropriate to the day are held, which go a long way toward giving the foreigner a better idea of what these holidays really stand for, which means a great deal, as the average new arrival considers our holidays merely in the light of a game.

The Y. M. C. A. lectures are given in the open air, views of foreign countries and the United States being shown, closing with slides of Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty. At one Fourth of July lecture one of the men remarked that they had not seen the view of foreign lands, but more about the United States, and pictures of its great men.

The eagerness to learn more about American history and the eagerness to be present in almost all of these newly arrived emigrants.

"That belongs to all of us," said one of a group of men, pointing to the American flag on top of a tree which stood in the midst of several shacks. Men of this kind, and they know it, and they are inspired by a true loyalty to the flag.

Men who are anxious to learn the English language are very appreciative of this opportunity to do so, and they are strong workers to have their friends and relatives take the same course. There are a large number of college men among the workers who are rendering very efficient aid and service to the community.

All over the United States foreign men are coming into the local associations with cards of introduction from the port secretaries stationed in Europe and Asia, and thus being kept out of the best lodging houses and away from the prey of boarding house sharks.

There is no work being carried on to-day by the young men of this country which is as far reaching and powerful in its influence as is association work. This fact is so well recognized by the great railroads of the country that almost all of them have given buildings and money toward the upbuilding of Christian manhood. The public will remember the magnificent gift of Miss Helen Gould, who after the Spanish war erected a large building for the sailors of the Brooklyn navy yard, and John D. Rockefeller recently erected one at the Norfolk navy yard.

Good for MacDonald.

The automobilists who made the endurance run over the state last week couched that as a general thing the roads were in very good condition and they have much to say of a complimentary character about Highway Commissioner MacDonald. "Considering the criticism to which he has been subjected in many quarters this praise of the roads from those who are of necessity keen judges, must be acceptable as doubtless it is deserved. Speaking of this outcome the Ansonia Sentinel very truly says:

This information should be pleasing to a great many besides the state highway commissioner, as it dispels the impression that the state and his methods for other purposes than for the good of the state. It should be pleasing to thousands who use the highways for business and for pleasure and it should prove a satisfaction to taxpayers. It scores over MacDonald. It is far better for Connecticut to have these motorists return a verdict of this kind than that they feel compelled to utter a general denunciation. They have had a good opportunity to judge of the road conditions which exist over much of the state as their two days' run has taken them—Bridgeport Standard.

Sport Leads.

It may be true that trade follows the flag, but evidently sport leads development in some lines. This is especially so in ballooning and aeroplaning. The Wrights no longer prove that man can fly than adventurous sportsmen take to the air and aviation soon become the popular thing. Now several magazines are devoted to that department of human endeavor and success are filled with instructions for building gliders and balloons and even aeroplanes with power. It is really surprising how much interest in air sailing craft are attracting in amateur circles. It is quite within the probabilities that within a few months there will be a large number of aeroplanes will make a try for a fly across the great lakes as preliminary to crossing the Atlantic.—Bristol Press.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.

The change of bill in vaudeville at the Auditorium on Thursday offered a popular list of attractions and drew crowded houses. Each number kept the house applauding and the varied programme was a good one. "Flossie Gay" and "Annet" Willis, two sprightly comedienne, do a maudlin disguise act with blackface and poor songs. They are a novelty in that line, winning a nice hand.

Jane Hood &amp; Co., which includes Miss Hood and her company of three, have a capital comedy, "The Scotch Soldier's Romance," which brings in the sword dance and bagpipes for a attractive part of this feature number.

The Great Drubh, illusionist, assisted by Viva Traulene &amp; Co., continues to mystify and enchant with his inexplicable tricks and the chest mystery, easily baffling the most intricate schemes to catch him napping.

In a comedy musical act Joseph Smith is clever, getting melody out of the bones, banjo, violin and his original dinner can instrument. The moving pictures are an interesting part of the bill to all attending.
